

NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

We were struck by a strong case of nostalgia the other day in reading a column in The Perryton Herald by the publisher Harold Hudson. Those of you who grew up back before television and other instant means of entertainment will likely remember some of the means of self-entertainment pointed out in the following column:

"We read a piece the other day about the simple games 'depression babies' used to play and it caught our eye because we suppose we could qualify for that definition. Maybe not as a depression baby, but certainly as a young boy who grew up in the depression when times were simple and had to be home made most of the time.

"The fellow that wrote about play in the depression told about making roller skate go-carts made with orange crates and skates fastened on a 2x4 board. We remember those. Then there were the rubber guns that used ammunition made from slices of inner tubes and this was in the day before tubeless tires. The big rubber bands were fastened with clothes pins or else in notches cut along the top of the board used as the stock of the gun.

"There used to be tractors built with an empty spool of thread, a rubber band, two match sticks and a washer carved from soap. Kids used to spike tops and shoot marbles and play shinny and kick the can. It seems to us that young boys of that generation spent more time fighting, wrestling around on the ground, than the boys do in this day and time."

In reading over this column we can see that kids of this generation would have certain problems in trying to match these types of entertainment. In the first place they would have a hard time finding an orange crate and what inner tubes you could find wouldn't make very good rubber guns.

And even if you could find the materials there would likely be some do-gooder around someplace telling you how unsafe your toys were.

We can just imagine what some government agency would have had to say about those grass burrs we used to throw at each other. And we feel quite sure that no agency would give their approval to the chinaberries we used to shoot at each other — or the arrows made from cedar shingles.

One thing for sure about the toys that you did buy back when we were a kid—they weren't made out of plastic and would last.

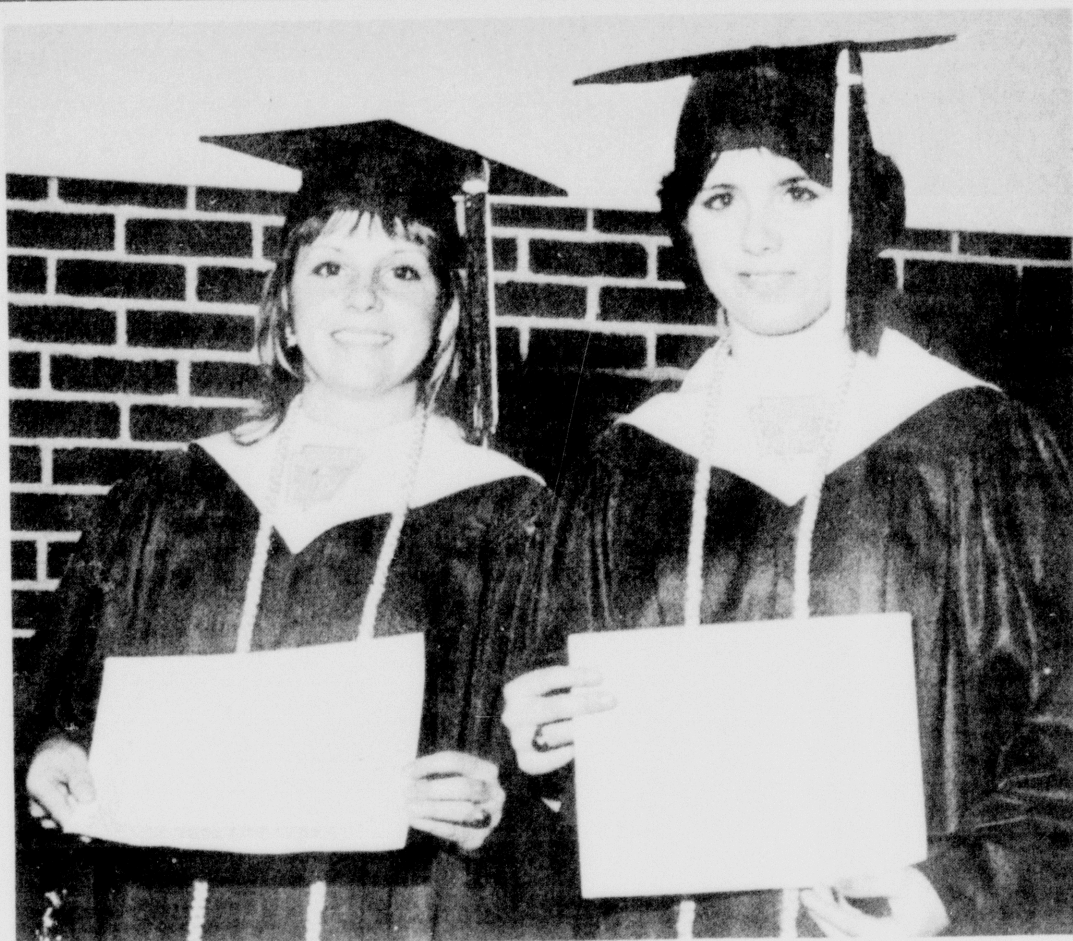

Here's the way the government does things:

Your tax dollars at work: Two new office buildings and a parking garage in Washington, D.C. cost $133 million. A lounge for House members only: new carpet $32,000; new drapes $22,000; new chandeliers $45,000. So you can see, the war on poverty continues.

While most Americans agree that taxes don't go in any direction but up, few of us are aware of some of the sillier ways in which government contributes to soaring levies.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), an agency with which we are well acquainted, had a single 45-foot flagpole in front of its Washington headquarters. The neighboring Department of Transportation had a pair of 75-foot poles. Peeved, HUD officials had two 80-foot poles erected. Cost to taxpayers: $26,500.

Hear about the elderly Texan, dictating his will, "To my no-good son I leave $5 million— and he's mighty lucky I didn't cut him off entirely."

Vocational Training Courses To Be Increased By School

Following the trend of making more vocational type training available to high school students, several changes will be made this fall to give opportunities to Hamlin High School students.

To be initiated in the fall will be cooperative part-time training in vocational agriculture, and pre-employment programs under the Distributive Education Program.

Students in cooperative part-time training spend an hour each school day in class receiving instructions in the occupation for which they are training, and three hours each school day at a training station.

Students entering the program must be junior classification, 16 years of age, have approval of the counselor and coordinator and capable of training for employability.

The pre-employment laboratory in feedlot training requires a two-hour class period per day. It is designed primarily for junior and senior students with an interest in all the aspects of the livestock industry.

This course does not center entirely on the feedlot industry, but instead, gives the student a working knowledge of all the livestock industry. Marketing, nutrition, financing, disease and parasite control, and management are just a few principles to be covered. All these principles will relate to the small farmer and rancher, as well as the large feedlot operators.

Much of the time is hoped to be spent working cattle and swine for cooperating local farmers and ranchers.

This course offers a lot of advantages to the student who is interested in this ever expanding industry of agriculture according to the agriculture teachers.

The Home Economics Cooperative Education (HECE) program will be offered for the third year to give on-the-job training for students who are interested in home economics related occupations. The student attends classes at school during part of each day and is employed a minimum of 15 hours each week in a home economics related occupation.

In addition to regular classes, the student receives daily instruction related to the world of work and the occupation in which he or she is employed.

Students of junior or senior standing, 16 years of age or older, are eligible to participate. Some of the approved occupations for HECE students are child care aide, companion to the elderly, clothing assistant, fabric coordinator, floral designer, food service employee, home furnishings aide and housekeeping management assistant.

Another homemaking course offered for one semester to boys and girls is consumer education which offers units on cars; furniture and appliances; food, clothing and shelter; you and the law; and protecting family health and security. Employment is not included in this course.

Farmers To Report Fuel Shortages to ASCS Office

WASHINGTON — To help assure that farmers don't run short of fuel this season, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is asking farmers to:

—Report any shortages to local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Offices, and —Use fuel conserving methods with tractors, trucks and other machine-driven equipment.

The Department since February has been monitoring the farm fuel supply situation through its more than 2,800 ASCS county Offices. Any shortages are reported immediately through State ASCS Offices to Washington. In addition, a regular farm fuel situation report is prepared for Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz every Wednesday.

Any problems that arise are forwarded immediately to the Office of Oil and Gas (OOG), U. S. Department of the Interior, for solution under the voluntary allocation program. William E. Simon, Chairman of the President's Oil Policy Committee and Deputy Secretary of the Treasury, has pointed out that farmers and the food industry have priority in getting petroleum products. To assure continuous coordination with the OOG, ASCS has loaned it a professional employee.

ASCS said some suppliers have not been able to meet farm customers' needs fully. Officials said this is partly because independent and cooperative fuel producers and marketers have not been able to obtain enough supplies.

The current planting period is critical to farm production. Officials involved do follow ups on shortage reports to make certain that corrective action is being taken.

USDA has been working with the Departments of Treasury and the Interior to encourage farm fuel conservation practices. Farmers can conserve fuel use by keeping tractors tuned and using minimum tillage practices, for example.

USDA officials also urged farmers not to buy more fuel than they need in the near future. Officials stressed that equitable distribution is necessary if all farmers are to have enough fuel.

Public hearing will be held June 11-13 in Washington by the Treasury Department to see how the voluntary crude oil and product allocation program is working. Persons wishing to supply written testimony should contact Kenneth L. Dupuy, U. S. Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C. 20240, on or before 5 p.m. June 7.

The Baccalaureate program will be held Sunday, May 27, at 8 p.m. in the Baptist Church.

To every citizen of Hamlin and surrounding communities this is to announce and request the assistance of every one of you at the meeting, beginning at 11 a.m. Sunday, June 3, in the Methodist Church. This should be the best program possible.

WORSHIP BEGINS IN THE HOME

Our home is more than just a pretty structure, of course it does provide comfort, but beyond that, it is a place where joy abounds . . . it is a place where love is abundant, it is a place of cooperation, and it is a place where the Lord is worshiped. From the home, our relationship with God is carried over into the church. It is there that my family is able to share worshipping the Lord with others. Ours would not be a full life, if we did not participate in worship at home and church. Attend church this week and join us in worshipping the Lord.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Neinda Philosopher Views Gasoline
Shortage, Points to Possible Solution

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One turns his attention this week to the possibility of a gasoline shortage.

Dear editor:
There has been a lot of talk in the newspapers and on the streets about a gasoline shortage this summer and what I've been reading lately suggests there's a grain of truth in both sources.

At least, officials in Washington have been warning a shortage is possible, and are making suggestions to avoid it, such as spending your vacation close to home instead of seeing how many miles you can run up in two weeks. Another suggestion is to reduce the maximum speed limit to 50 miles an hour, since a car burns less gas at 50 than 70 and also requires fewer ambulance calls.

These are half-way measures. When you stop to think about it, after all the supply of oil inside the earth is limited, there are just so many barrels down there, and some day we're bound to pump it all out. No oil, no gasoline. No gasoline, no cars, at least as we know them now.

At that point, the world will have to turn back to organic transportation. That is, the horse.

And I can't help but think of a friend of mine who had an uncle years ago who invested all his money in opening up a chain of livery stables just as the automobile was coming on the scene. Naturally his empire collapsed.

For years he has been held up as an example of utter lack of foresight, but if he were living now he might be due an apology. If he could have just hung on a little longer he might have become a transportation tycoon, with livery stables from one end of the country to the other offering a complete line of feed, service and parts for all makes of buggies, surreys, horses, mules and even oxen. I don't know if he'd have thought of this, but his brand name could with a little imagination and the changing of a few letters in signs already in place be called Oxxen.

Mrs. Carruth Honored for Memories of McCaulley

Continuing the Bicentennial project of honoring area residents who are contributing to making local history live, Mrs. S. G. Carruth of Port Arthur was recently presented a Certificate of appreciation by Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter DAR of Rotan.

Mrs. Carruth, the former Ora Stephenson, is a third generation Texan, her ancestors having come from Kentucky to Texas in 1847. She, like her mother and father, was born in Titus County, Texas. She states, "On my third birthday, the family left Titus County for West Texas in search of better health. We arrived in McCaulley in October of 1905 at the time Arthur Stillwell was building the Orient railroad from Kansas City to Mexico. The family liked this small town so well that it has remained home until the present time."

After completing high school at McCaulley, Ora had to wait until after her birthday to be old enough to take examinations for a second grade certificate. She says, "One month after my sixteenth birthday I had a teaching certificate. I taught several years before receiving my B. A. degree from Hardin Simmons University in 1924 with summa cum laude honors. Later I furthered my education by attendance at Columbia University, Texas University, and workshops under direction of the University of Houston."

While teaching in Port Arthur, Ora Stephenson met and married S. G. Carruth. Because of the teacher shortage during World War II, she was "called back to service." She retired from teaching in 1963, but continues to maintain membership in major educational organizations.

Mrs. Carruth is a charter member of Alpha Omega Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, international honorary society for women teachers; a former vice president of Alpha State; and holder of the Delta Kappa Gamma State Achievement Award. She is a member of H-SU Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, and a past president of the Golden Triangle H-SU Alumni.

School and WMU of First Baptist Church of Port Arthur of which her husband is chairman of the board of trustees. She is active in many civic and service organizations in her home city. A member of Captain William Sanders Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, she is the incoming chapter secretary.

In the introduction to "Memories of McCaulley," Mrs. Carruth wrote, "Although I left my home town when I was but sixteen years of age, the memories of McCaulley and the people I knew and loved there have always been kept bright and glowing by my frequent visits to be with my family. My dream for years was to write the story of McCaulley, or to have it written. I often begged my mother to write it, but she never felt the urge nor had the time."

Mrs. Carruth saved letters, newspaper clippings, church bulletins etc. for more than 40 years. She writes, "I was delighted to learn that Roy (Hennington) had this same desire to preserve memories of our home town. It has been a joy to work with him... Our sincere hope is that as you turn the pages of this book, fond memories will fill your heart and mind; and if your family is not included, please write your Memoirs, for some day I hope to write a second volume."

Ora Stephenson Carruth is the daughter of the late William H.

Marshall Leroy Smith Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Smith, will receive his doctor of philosophy degree from The University of Texas Medical Branch Graduate School at the 83rd annual commencement exercises at 8 p.m. Sunday in Moody Civic Center auditorium.

Mark, a 1963 graduate of Hamlin High School, completed degree requirements in December with a major in anatomy and minor in physiology. He is presently working toward a doctor of medicine degree with future plans in teaching and research.

While working toward the Ph.D., his special field was in reproductive physiology. He is a graduate of Sigma Xi honorary society.

He is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin and a member of the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

He and his wife, the former Ann Gorham of Bloomington, were married in May 1970. They reside at 1113 Trout in Galveston.

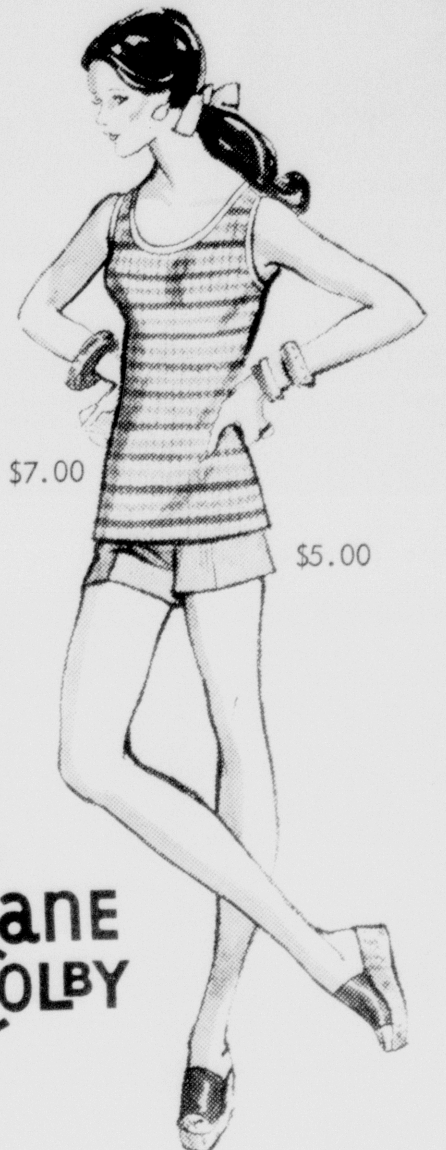

Missionary Conference Now Underway Here

The Rev. and Mrs. Orlean Robinson, missionaries of Foursquare Gospel Churches, started a missionary conference at the local church Wednesday which will continue through Thursday, Friday and Sunday.

Services are held each evening at 7:30 p.m.

They have recently been engaged in missionary work in Jamaica.

Mrs. Tommy Richey and son, David, of Hobbs N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. George Huling and family of Garland, visited their mother, Mrs. Ray Huling this week.

Here's a sleeveless tank top that has everything going for it! Jane Colby designed it of washable polyester and cotton in soft subtle pointelle stripes. It wears well with the solid short short of the same fabric that comes in a wide group of enticing colors.

10th Annual AFFILIATED Giant Ticket Jamboree And Fun-Fest at SIX FLAGS OVER TEXAS...

★★★ May 28 -- June 30 ★★★

FUN ON THE WAY! Rides, thrills, squeals of delight anywhere you go in SIX FLAGS 145 acre land of entertainment. Trains, boats, log flumes, high-slide... and your one admission ticket is good for every one in the entire Park.

Save $1.95--Plus on Six Flags Tickets With Each $5 Affiliated Food Purchase!

Affiliated Food Stores' 10th Annual Ticket Jamboree special offer on discount tickets to the fun-city and Entertainment Capital of Texas, "Six Flags Over Texas" at Arlington between Dallas and Fort Worth. Features a $1.95-plus saving on each Adult ticket bought with a $5 food purchase at a participating Affiliated Food Store during the period from Monday, May 28, through Saturday, June 30. Regular full-day tickets to Six Flags cost $5.95 for Adults, and $4.95 for Children (children under Age 3 are free). Per above, each purchase of $5 of food products at Affiliated Food Stores allows a discount purchase of a full-day Six Flags ticket at only $3.99, the saving is obvious. Better yet, although the promotion period at Affiliated Food Stores is only from Monday, May 28, through Saturday, June 30, such tickets are good throughout the 1973 Six Flags season, ending in late October. Once inside the Park, everything else, such as rides and entertainment all day, are free; only food, souvenirs, and special needs cost extra. Please read the main stories on this page to learn how to reach Six Flags, find your way around, the new attractions, etc. Saving money on food purchases at Affiliated Stores is fun itself every week of the year, but this promotional weekend of fun is something extra.

Affiliated Stores Six Flags Tickets Good Thru '73

Just because you shopped at your economical nearby Affiliated Food Store during the Six Flags Over Texas promotional period of Monday, May 28, through Saturday, June 30, and bought your special 30% discount tickets to a day at Six Flags, doesn't mean you have to go during that period! Through a special arrangement with Six Flags Over Texas, your Affiliated Food Store has made these fun-discount tickets good through the full Six Flags season, ending finally in late October, of the 1973 season. They are open every day through the Summer, thence on weekends through September and October. No matter how many times you have gone to Six Flags before, there is something new each year... this season a 5-acre new $1,500,000 addition of "Good Time Square". However, do know, that 1973 Affiliated Food Store discount tickets are not good for the 1974 season.

Coming--Up... Affiliated Stores Independence Day

"Independence Day" is in com- with the celebration of U.S. Independence Day during the July 4th week!

SIX FLAGS ON THE GROW — Six Flags Over Texas will feature Good Time Square, an all-new section for 1973. Shown in the artist's rendering above, the five acres include two major rides, a miniature circus, a games area and new restaurant facilities. Good Time Square reflects the architecture of a Texas town at the turn of the century.

"The Entertainment Capital of Texas"—the fabulous fun-world of Six Flags Over Texas at Arlington, in the big middle of the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, is yours again at a major discount for the 10th year in a row, by simply buying $5 worth of food at your nearby Affiliated Food Store. Yes, from Monday, May 28, through Saturday, June 30, for every $5 worth of food purchases from a participating member Affiliated Food Store, you are qualified to buy also either an Adult or Child's ticket to a day of fun at Six Flags at about a 30% savings and good throughout Six Flags' 1973 Season. Most families of from three-to-six normally buy $20-to-$30 worth of food per week, so no problem of getting tickets for the entire family. Better yet, when you buy at an Affiliated Food Store, you save on nearly everything else—and with today's food prices, savings are truly important! At Affiliated Food Stores, these savings are made possible by a gigantic common Warehouse buying at huge quantity discount... passing-on such savings in retail grocery prices to you at your store... plus further economies in computerized ordering/inventory control and efficient mass-distribution low costs. Come and save at your nearby Affiliated Food Store, buy fun at Six Flags Over Texas at a real discount, and enjoy a weekend at Six Flags, described as follows and elsewhere on this page.

Six colorful flags wave briskly over a mall filled with flowers and fountains. In the distance a huge, orange oil derrick juts high into the Texas sky. From every side come the sounds of laughter and excitement.

It's all part of the "fun" atmosphere of Texas' most popular tourist attraction, SIX FLAGS Over Texas.

Since 1961, more than 20,000,000 persons from throughout the world have passed through the big park's beautifully landscaped entrance and into a world of history, fantasy and fun.

Located in Arlington, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, the sprawling theme park features more than 95 rides, shows and attractions, including an entirely new, five-acre section — Good Time Square — which was added for the 1973 season. All told, the Park covers some 145 acres.

SIX FLAGS Over Texas draws its name from the six flags which have flown over the Lone Star state during its long and exciting history.

The immaculately clean grounds are divided into six sections, with the atmosphere constantly changing to reflect the state's past and present under the rule of Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States of America.

One of the things that sets SIX FLAGS apart from other entertainment centers is its young staff. Some 1,500 hosts and hostesses, primarily high school and college students, give the park a fresh, wholesome personality.

Even the performers in SIX FLAGS' many live shows are students, chosen from among the thousands who audition each year on college campuses throughout the country.

The largest of the show productions is the Park's 1973 musical "The Passing Parade," which is presented several times daily in the Southern Palace Music Hall. It features a cast of sixteen, with a fourteen-piece orchestra.

The show lineup alone is enough to keep visitors happily occupied for hours. Sid and Marty Krofft, producers of such network television shows for children as "H.R. Pufnstuf" and "Lidzville," present a unique production in their Puppet Theatre.

There is song and dance in the Crazy Horse Saloon; aquatic antics at the Dolphin Show; gunfire and excitement at the Old West shootout; the ring of pirates' swords on Skull Island; the blare of a brass band marching through the streets and much more.

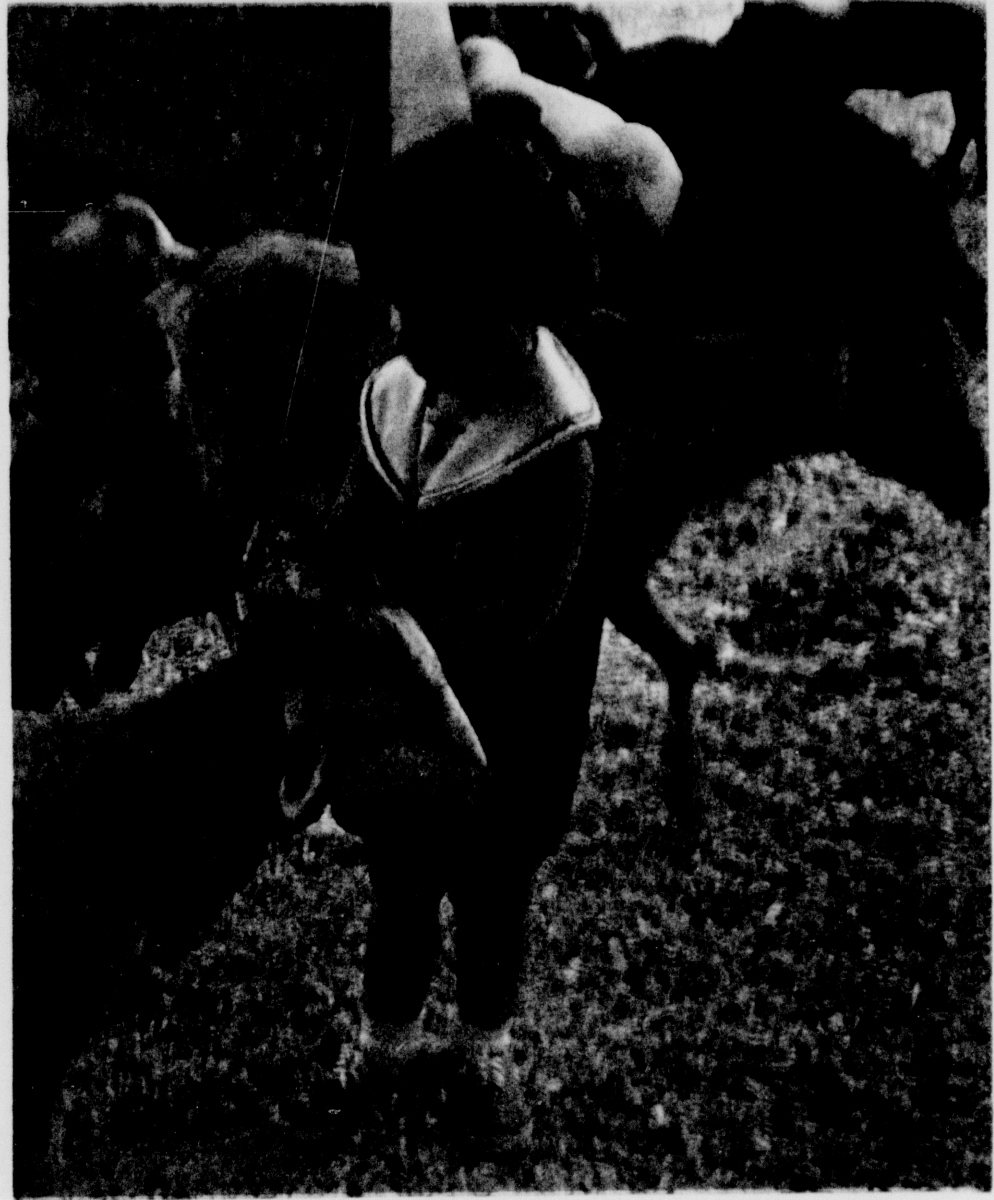

Rides at SIX FLAGS Over Texas come in every size and sensation, from the charm and color of the animated Fiesta Train in the Mexican section to the breathtaking speed of The Big Bend, racing along a half mile of track in the U.S.A. section at a 50 mile an hour clip.

Then there are the Park's two Log Flumes, the mysterious Spunkies' Cave, the Runaway Mine Train, Caddo Indian War Canoes, modern and antique miniature cars, a narrow gauge railroad with two, authentic antique steam engines.

One of the largest slides in the world sends fun-seekers swooping to the ground from a five-story height. From observation platforms at the 300 foot level of SIX FLAGS' landmark Oil Derrick you can see the skylines of Dallas and Fort Worth, each sixteen miles away.

On the edge of the Square is SIX FLAGS' unique "Tribute to Will Rogers." The wit and philosophy of the late comedian are brought to new generations through the computer-age exhibit which features a life-like animated figure of Mr. Rogers. In addition, visitors can trace Will Rogers' life and career through a display of photographs supplied by the Will Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Oklahoma.

Restaurants are scattered throughout the Park

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE! Typical, above, the little one gets as much a thrill out of the animal petting park as adults do with the Wild West Shoot-Out.

"Good Time Square", New Rides, Plus Arcade Games, New at Six Flags

SIX FLAGS Over Texas' biggest expansion program in several years has added a completely new entertainment area and two major rides to the theme park's growing list of attractions. The new section — Good Time Square — covers nearly five acres adjacent to the Park's Boomtown area.

Largest of the new rides is The Infernal Electrical Bumping Machines, a "giant size" version of the traditionally popular "bumper cars," the SIX FLAGS installation boasts fifty cars, which is approximately double the number usually found on such rides.

Another new ride, Crazy Legs, has seats which spin on the tips of long, arching arms that rise and fall as the entire ride turns in a huge circle.

Across the Square is Doc Snooker's Magnificent Main Street Exposition, featuring sixteen games of the type which have been the most popular attraction at major fairs through the years.

General Manager Robert W. Freeman said, "We spent several years working on the concept and design for the games area. The whole project reflects the wholesome style of entertainment which has become a SIX FLAGS trademark."

Another highlight of the new section is the Dragon Bros. Circus, a fascinating miniature circus representing more than 10,000 hours of meticulous work by the late P. K. Schmitter of Irving, Texas.

Mr. Schmitter, a technical illustrator who passed away in July, 1972, built the elaborate model as a hobby. The project occupied his spare time for more than eleven years.

The circus, with more than 4,000 tiny performers and spectators and nearly 2,000 miniature animals, fills a large building.

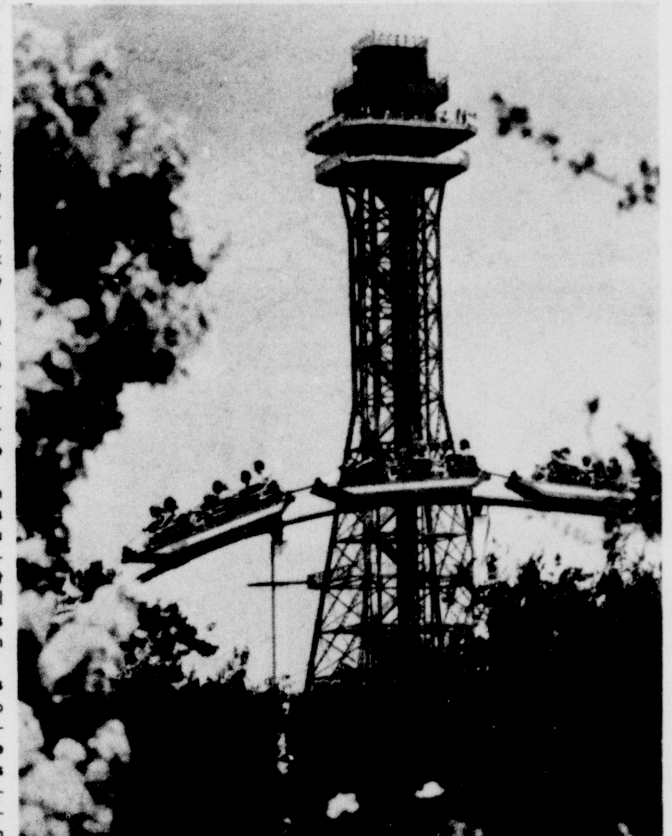

Still another entertainment feature is Doc Snooker's Medicine Show, a re-enactment of the humorous, razzle-dazzle sales pitch of the old time patent medicine peddler.

The entire section is designed to reflect the architecture and charm of a Texas town at the turn of the century.

* Families should plan to spend a minimum of 8 hours at SIX FLAGS. Many prefer to set a leisurely pace and make their visit a two-day affair.

* A delicious variety of foods can be found at restaurants throughout the Park. Menus include such items as Mexican food, barbecue, seafood, fried chicken, pizza, hamburgers, hotdogs and a wide range of cafeteria foods.

* A beautifully landscaped picnic area is available for your use at no charge. It is adjacent to the parking lots. A drink stand and restrooms are located in the area.

TEXAS THRILLS — One of the nation's fastest rides, the Big Bend, speeds past the landmark Oil Derrick at SIX FLAGS Over Texas. From observation platforms atop the 300 foot derrick, visitors can see the skylines of Dallas and Fort Worth, each sixteen miles away.
